RIVAL ARMIES IN SHAPE FOR WINTER

SOLDIERS WILL NOT ENDURE THE HARSHIPS OF A YEAR AGO

(By Associated Press.)
BOLOGNE, France, Nov. 17.—Signs are plentiful that winter is close upon the troops in the north of France. The nights are already cold, far too cold for comfort, and the characteristic winter night-mist from the marshes is in the air. The trees are not yet bare, but the leaves that remain have turned to a sere yellow, while the roadways are covered with fallen leaves which the soldiers here and there heap into little piles for a fragrant warning fire.
It is evident that there is to be another winter campaign; robbed, however, of much of the horror of last year's ordeal in boggy trenches and along impassable roads, in northern France, at least, winter will find the rival armies well prepared to receive it. The wet mud, the ice-cold water knee-deep in the communication trenches, the ooze and discomfort of the dugouts, will be the exception rather than the rule this year. The shelters, even in the advance trenches, will generally be fairly livable, thanks to the plentiful use of concrete and tar, and the skillful employment of drainage.
Moreover, the armies will be properly clad and amply fed. The British soldiers will again don their sheepskins, supplemented by ample supplies of warm caps, socks and heavy boots of rather better type than last year's.

Many of the trenches now have brick floors, and practically all are drained and protected against landslide by timbers.
The great problem of the winter will be the gleaning of all the new divisions which have come out since last year. In the villages well behind the firing lines, every out-building and old barn has been requisitioned, cleaned, repaired and made into shelter against the wind and cold. But nearer the firing lines most of the buildings have been smashed into ruins, and although they were usable for housing during the summer, they are plainly impossible after mid-November. The problem is being dealt with to some extent by the building of portable houses and huts, but the armies grow too fast for the carpenters.

The work of the aeroplane observers gets more difficult as winter approaches. The fogs of the late autumn cling to the ground in little patches well into the day, while the evening mists make observations difficult soon after mid-afternoon.

REMOVING STAINED GLASS TO SAFETY

FAMOUS WINDOW OF ST. MARGARET'S CHURCH TAKEN FROM THE FIRING ZONE

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, Nov. 17.—The east window of St. Margaret's church, adjoining Westminster Abbey, which has been called the finest specimen of stained glass work in London, is being removed to a place of safety in view of the recent Zeppelin raids.
The window was made at Gouda, Holland, and was presented by the magistrates of Dort to King Henry VIII, for the chapel of Whitehall Palace. The king, however, gave it to Waltham Abbey. The glass, of which the blues and greens are remarkably striking, suffered sundry removals and vicissitudes, and at one time was buried to escape the zeal of the Puritans. Eventually it was purchased by the wardens of St. Margaret for $2,000. It is now valued at twenty times that sum.

GERMAN PRINCESS IS A SCHOOL TEACHER

COUSIN OF RULING PRINCE TAKES EXAMINATION FOR THE PROFESSION

(By Associated Press.)
BERLIN, Nov. 17.—Probably the only princess in the Empire who is a school teacher is the 26-year-old Princess Marie Adelheid zu Lippe, who has just passed her examinations for teaching in the common schools in her principality.
Princess Marie is the daughter of Prince Rudolf, and a cousin of the reigning prince, Leopold IV. During the war she will take the place of some man teacher who has been drawn into the army from the town of Schwabenberg. The girl's mother is the Princess of Ardeck from the princely house of Hesse, whose parents are Prince Wilhelm of Hessen-Philippsthal-Barchfeld and the Princess Marie of Hanau.

CORPSE TURNING TO STONE

The head of the state asylum for the insane at Reno recently announced to the Sheriff at Elko that the body of C. E. West, who was sent from Elko to the asylum about two years ago, is turning to stone. West died about two months ago and the remains were embalmed and were being held pending the arrival of relatives from Australia. The body seems to be undergoing some peculiar chemical change and it is believed that it is gradually becoming ossified.
